REASON FOR ALLOWANCE

1. Claims 1-20 is allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reason for allowance:

The prior art fails to teach or suggest a method of charging a liquid crystal display (LCD) device, comprising: providing a plurality of scan lines; providing a plurality of video lines formed orthogonal to the scan lines; providing a plurality of cells, each cell including a transistor and a capacitor coupled to the transistor, each of the cells being formed at an intersection of the scan lines and video lines; providing a periodic signal for writing video data into the LCD device; charging the plurality of cells having first-type transistors during a first half cycle of the periodic signal until a first voltage level of the periodic signal is reached; charging the plurality of cells having second-type transistors during a second half cycle of the periodic signal until a second voltage level of the periodic signal is reached; and discharging the plurality of cells to a predetermined voltage level as claimed in claim 1.

The prior art fails to teach or suggest a method of charging a liquid crystal display (LCD) device, comprising: providing a plurality of scan lines; providing a plurality of video lines formed orthogonal to the scan lines; providing a plurality of cells, each of the cells being formed at an intersection of the scan lines and video lines and including a transistor and a capacitor, one end of the capacitor being coupled to the transistor and another end being coupled to a common voltage level; providing a signal for writing video data into the LCD device, the signal having a first voltage level and a second voltage level; providing one of pre-charging the cells during a first half cycle of the signal until the first voltage level of the signal is reached, or pre-charging the cell during a second half cycle of the periodic signal until the second voltage level of the periodic signal is reached; and discharging the cells to a predetermined voltage level as claimed in claim 14.

3. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
